MUSINGS ... BY AMELIA.

wander'd one summer night-.Twas when my years were few; The breeze was singing in the light, And I was singing too. The moonbeams lay upon the hill, The shadows in the vale, And here and there a leaping rill Was laugh ing on the gale.

One fleecy cloud upon the air, Was all that met my eyes, It floated like an Angel there Between me and the skies. I clapp'd my hands and warbled wild As here and there I flew; For I was but a careless child

And did as children do.

They linked their hands-but ere I caught Their sprinkled drops of dew, They kissed my feet, and quick as though! Away the ripples flew.

The twilight hours, like birds, flew by, As lightly and as free; Ten thousand stars were in the sky, Ten thousand in the sea; revery wave with dimp That leaped upon the air, Had caught a star in its embrace And held it trembling there.

The young moon, too, with upturned sides, Her mirror'd beauty gave; And as a bark at anchor rides. She rode upon the wave. The sea was like the heaven above, As perfect and as whole, we that it seemed to thrill with love, As thrills the immortal soul.

The leaves, by spirit voices stirr'd, Made murmers on the air--Low murmers that my spirit heard, And answered with a prayer; For 'twas upon the dewy sod, Beside the moaning seas, I learn'd at first to worship God, And sing such strains as these.

The flowers all folded to their dreams-Were bow'd in slumber free, By breezy hills and murmering streams Wher'er they chance to be. No guilty tears had they to weep, No sins to be forgiven; They closed their eyes and went to sleep Right in the face of Heaven.

No costly raiment round them shone, No jewels from the seas. Yet Solomon upon the throne Was ne'er array'd like these; And just as free from guilt and art Were lovely human flowers. Ere sorrow set her bleeding heart On this fair world of ours.

I've heard the laughing wind behind. A playing with my hair-The breezy fingers of the wind, How cool and moist they were! ve heard the night wind warbling o'er Its soft enchanting strain-I never heard such strains before. And never shall ag

Then wherefore weave such strains as these And sing thein day by day, When every bird upon the breeze Can sing a sweeter Tay? I'd give the world for their sweet art, I'd give the world to melt one heart,

LOVE AND THE PLEDGE.

BY GEO. E. MONTGOMERY.

A SUBJECT FOR PHILOSOPHERS.

Dame Nature or some one else-has been playing a strange game, for the last few days. with an old and respectable citizen of Law, reace county, some 12 miles West of this place.-We have the following statement from a passenger's in yesterday's car, who was at the place and had the story from the gentleman whose house is so unceremoniously assailed.

On last Monday sometime during the day, a large sandstone impregnated with iron, fell near or upon the house of Mr. White residing near Hillsboro' in Lawrence county. It attracted his attention from the fact. that there is none of the sime formation of stone nearer than a near and a diath; of his house. Sometime star, nother cas thrown into the house smashing several panes of glass from a cap board in the corner of the house and breaking a good deal of queens ware. Several others were thrown entering the cracks of the house. One fell the other morning, while they were breakfasting, entering a small aperture of the door, and fell into the plate of his wife breaking her plate, and the rock remaining on the table, anothwhile Mrs. White was in bed one was thrown in and fell upon the bed burting her very much. The rocks come in a southeastern ed must throw them over that distance or be seen as they are nearly all thrown during the day and some of them weigh five lbs. When the car came by on vesterday, some thirty or forty persons had assembled and had been hunting the woods around with dogs to see if they could discover any sign of any one secreted about the premises, but could discover none .-- A young gentleman who was sitting in the door yesterday morning saw a rock coming in the air in a horzontal direction, it appeared to move slowv and when near the house dropped suddealy down and remained where it fell. The stones are what we call mountain sandstone, deeply impregnated with iron. We give the story as we heard it, as near as we recollect .- Decatur Whig.

The London Times of 15th alt- commen ces one of 'leaders' on foreign policy, received from Lord Aberdeen, with that mas terly duplicity which has ever distinguished the leading English journals prior to a government expedition for the division and subjugation of a foreign territory. 1. The countryto be subjugated or divided is individualiz ed in the person of its executive or ministers. 2. The executive is depicted as the incarnation of everything vile and detestable. 3. The traficking propensity (commercial policy) of Englishmen, is invoked to countenance and support the peaceable overthese words:

"In short the emergency is so great, and question, that we trust a considerable reinforcement will be despatched to our naval forces in the Plata; and that the governer of Buenos Ayres (Argentine Union) will whose mediation he resists will be a decla ration of war."

The Daily, Semi-Weekly, and Weekly Union, will, as usual, embrace an interesting variety of matter on potitical, scientific, and literary subjects, along with the current news of the day. The editor will continue to devote all his energies to the improvement of "The Union." He finds many accomplished men in this city. The administration has brought with it a considerable accession of talents. Several tried and distinguished members of the democratic party have accepted office under it. Some of time have liberated. accepted office under it. Some of them have liberally contributed their literary labors to our benefit; and we hope to enlist others in our service. Besides, the time is not far distant when the editor intends to call other talents to his assistance. His ambition is, to make his paper worthy of the metropolis of the Union. He is persuaded that, with the facilities which his position enables him to employ; with the official and other materials placed within his reach; and with the aid of the correspondence which he is attempting a stablish in facility and other materials placed within his reach; and with to establish in foreign countries, a paper may be published, which is not unworthy of the support of his country. What enthusiasm and industry can effect, will be fully accomplished. Some errors he may have already committed. But upon one point, he can see at with great pleasure and with equal freedom. The men who are administering this government are working men, anxious, as he believes, to do their duty, to serve their country, to carry out the pleages under which the President was elected, and the great principles of the party. So long as the administration is conducted in this spirit, and upon those principles, he is prepared to co-operate with them in the public service; and to give them, as he promised in his prospectus, "a fair, liberal, and efficient support.'

We feel a deep sense of grutitude for the prompt manner in which our political friends, in every section of the country, have already come forward to sustain the "Union." May we not hope that our friends throughout the United Sense and

The increased demand for this medicine, is an evidence to the proprietor, that it must and will be the prevailing practice in Fevers. It is now in general use throughout all the Western and Southern States and Texas, and the demand for the medicine has so greatly increased, that the proprietor has not been able to fully supply many parts of the country during the last season. It may be relied on in all cases to cure the Chills and Fever the first day—Bilhious, Typhus, Nervous, Congestive, Winter and Scarlet Fevers, all yield to the use of this medicine, and are cuted by this system of practice in a shorter time, and with much more certainty than by any other system that has been recommended. Each box contains twenty-tour pills—twelve of which will care any ordinary case of chills and fever.

CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX.

TO BE STEREOTYPED.

The undersigned originated the mode of journal zing the proceedings of Congress, which presented them entire. Their publication was the first and only one that gave each successive step in every measure in both branches of Congress; a brief all the debates every important vote; and an appendix, including at full length ail the revised speeches delivered during the session. The work thus conducted by them is a most perfect political history. The Senators from the States and the Representatives from every section of the Union bring with them into Congress a knowledge of the feelings, sentiments, and interests of their several constituencies. Public opinion and the public information as it exists among these they the public information, as it exists among these they represent, are embodied by them; and in the crusible of Congress the wisdom of our times is brought to its test, and is there concentrated, in directing the political movements of the whole country. The impulses thus given through Congress from every quarter react upon the nation as a whole, and all its component parts make to move in co-operation. The press cannot be more usefully employed than in condensing
